

TOP HONORS FOR “BRING LINDBERGH TO LIFE” CAMPAIGN

-- Greater Atlanta Home Builders Association Honors eon at Lindbergh for Best Advertising Campaign and Best Marketing/Promotion Campaign --

ATLANTA, Ga. (Nov. 7, 2007) – Recognized for the creative “Bring Lindbergh to Life” campaign used to promote the eon at Lindbergh condominium residences, Evolv received two OBIE Awards from the Sales and Marketing Council of the Greater Atlanta Home Builders Association.

Specifically, with 600 entries this year alone, the OBIE Awards are the highest level of recognition given by the Atlanta housing industry. Each year, the Greater Atlanta Home Builders Association presents OBIE Awards for major achievements in building, marketing and remodeling. The OBIE Awards, previously called the Professionalism Awards, began in 1980 and have grown throughout the years to now feature 124 building, remodeling, marketing and personal achievement categories.

Evolv, a full-service real estate solutions group, received Best Advertising Campaign and Best Marketing Campaign honors for the “Bring Lindbergh to Life” campaign developed with branding agency partner, PUSH.

As a metaphor for bringing life to the Lindbergh area of Atlanta, the campaign utilized mannequins to symbolize people living in the eon at Lindbergh community. The launch of the campaign included placement of more than 100 mannequins en masse under the cover of darkness on Piedmont Road. The mannequins were also incorporated through all marketing elements including everything from advertising and community outreach, to throughout the sales gallery and public relations efforts.

“Being recognized with such prestigious awards from the Greater Atlanta Home Builders Association is a real honor for us,” said Gigi Giannoni, president of Evolv. “Our partner, PUSH brought a lot of energy and creativity to this campaign in a category that’s historically conservative in its marketing approach. This campaign demonstrates that out-of-the box and creative thinking is key to marketing in today’s real estate market.”

“Using mannequins as a metaphor and creating a consistent and recognizable eon at Lindbergh brand helped engage people beyond conventional advertising,” said Mark Unger, partner and creative director of new media for PUSH. “By embracing and implementing this concept, Evolv and the developers, Dawson and Lane, demonstrated their commitment to strategic and creative marketing.”

Situated between Buckhead and Midtown, eon at Lindbergh offers one and two-bedroom residences starting from the $180s. As part of the Lindbergh City Center urban community, eon is just steps away from the Lindbergh MARTA station, and a variety of shopping, dining and entertainment venues. In addition to being a transit-oriented community, eon features an array of amenities including underground parking, an upscale fitness center, two pools with outdoor entertainment areas, and a pet friendly walking and running trail around the community.

Adding to its amenities, eon at Lindbergh residences are an environmentally-friendly living option as an EarthCraft® certified development designed to protect and improve the environment.

The eon at Lindbergh sales gallery is located on Main Street in Lindbergh City Center and includes one full-size, decorated model condominium residence. For more information, visit
